Nurturing Interdisciplinary and International Collaborations

Interdisciplinary and collaborative science is the need of the hour to arrive at solutions to the healthcare problems of a modern society. The fellowship programmes of India Alliance work to fund major scientific meetings and travel grants to support such collaborative efforts. The module raises awareness on the significance of research and funding in India. This aids in resource and knowledge sharing along with building a robust research capacity and network in the country and abroad.

India Alliance, thus, regularly organises in-person and virtual sessions on funding programmes for students and researchers in biomedical and health sciences.
collaborative opportunity may include but is not limited to HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis, dengue, malaria, vector-borne diseases, parasitic infections, emerging infections, cancer, diabetes, hypertension, health systems research, AMR, microbiome, and general biomedical sciences.

These travel grants are administered by the India Alliance in India and by the Alliance for Accelerating Excellence in Science in Africa (AESA) in Africa.

Following the call of application in 2019, which was open between August and October, 12 researchers were selected for funding.
